

ABSTRACT

There is described a fluororesin tubular product suitable for the surface layer of a fixing roll or a 5 fixing belt for electrophotography. The tubular product of the present invention is a fluororesin tubular product formed by rolling, layering, and sticking a dense fluororesin film, wherein the number of rolling of the film is 2 or higher.